Shareholder Commentary – September 30, 2017

To Our Shareholders,

Current macro trends continue to show encouraging signs of momentum, supportive of a sustainable economy going forward. However, there are a series of broad-based key influences that can derail the current state of the recovery and limit future growth. With incoming data skewed to the downside due to hurricane season as well as uncertainty surrounding fiscal and monetary policy, the forecast heading into year-end is clouded. Excluding sudden negative shocks to the economic environment that could derail the current state of the recovery, the U.S. economy should continue to expand at a steady pace in the last quarter of 2017.

The economy was growing at a decent pace, heading into hurricane season. Second quarter real gross domestic product (GDP) expanded at an annual rate of 3.1%, a considerable acceleration over the first quarter's bleak 1.2% pace, with consumption and business investment seeing stronger results. Industrial output is back from last year's decline, to its strongest level in two years. Durable goods rose in July to +0.6%, up a confident +5.6% from a year ago. While core capital goods data, a key indicator of business investment, increased more than expected in August while shipments maintained their upward trend, pointing to underlying strength in that sector. The ISM Manufacturing Index boomed in September, hitting highest level since 2004 as the factory sector showed strength across all major measures. New orders gauge held above 60 for the third consecutive month suggesting momentum will continue and the non-manufacturing index is showing similar strength. Additionally, consumer confidence rebounded in August, close to its post-election highs, while retail sales rose a strong 1.6% in September pointing to underlying strength in domestic demand even in the aftermath of the hurricanes. Subsequently, consumer spending as a whole increased from last July. Lastly, while the 156,000 jobs gained in August fell shy of expectations it was still a pace that should continue to be supportive of steady consumption growth. Outside of the United States, conditions are also improving, Europe in particular has been a bright spot and we're seeing improved manufacturing and rising global trade levels around the world.

Given this backdrop, there are several key external uncertainties that still warrant close monitoring, as they could significantly alter the economic outlook in the near term. Both the auto and housing sectors have been in a deepening decline for the past few months. New home sales in July were down 8.9% from last year, and new housing starts were down 5.6%, while auto sales in August fell to their lowest rate in over three years. Even though the large drop may have reflected the impact from the hurricanes, the sector has been underperforming as purchases were running 4% and 6% lower in first and second quarter of 2017, respectively.

As for natural disasters, negative influences on economic activity are likely to be larger than average due to the amount of damage to property, the duration of the storms, and the populated landscape of the areas impacted. The effects are believed to be felt in very particular areas including retail sales, industrial production, transportation, and general business activity. However, once rebuilding efforts begin economic growth should rebound.

The potential for fiscal stimulus remains an unpredictable factor. The odds that Congress will endorse major pieces of legislation this year and provide significant fiscal stimulus have moderated, however, the uncertainty surrounding the debt ceiling limit continues and will have to be addressed before the December 15th deadline to avoid a government shutdown.

Lastly and most importantly, monetary policy uncertainty has heightened with inflation, trending below the Federal Reserve's 2% target. There is a possibility that the current tightening cycle could be put on hold sooner than proposed by the committee's projections (Summary of Economic Projections) and the Federal Open Market Committee will have to reconsider its overall policy approach. Simultaneously, the Federal Reserve has made a historic decision to start to gradually normalize monetary policy stimulus, by unwinding its $4.5 trillion balance sheet. Although this step reflects the Federal Reserve's rising confidence that the recovery is sufficiently durable to continue on its own, it could be a game changer even if it doesn't have an immediate impact on financial market performance. The initial reaction to the markets with the onset of quantitative easing was widespread: tightened credit spreads, lowered bond yields and increased stock valuations, to name a few. Therefore, it's understandable that policy reversal would impact markets as well. Only time will tell the exact effect the withdrawal of emergency policy measures will have on the markets and the economy.

Despite the data affected by weather-related disruptions and a few key measures that have published weaker than expected, economic growth continues at a moderate, steady pace. The third quarter gross domestic product growth is trending around 2% currently, and though the recent hurricane devastation is likely to indicate a slowdown in third quarter data, we should see a recovery-related increase in the fourth quarter. The jobs market is solid, income levels are slowly rising, retail sales are decent and manufacturing levels are increasing. And although inflation remains low, the Federal Reserve will anticipate rising inflation pressure due to further tightening in the labor market. We are intensely aware of the need to pay vigilant attention to possible headwinds that exist, but based on the data we have seen to date, the risks we can identify do not appear imminent. We believe solid economic growth trends remain in place and put us in a better position to weather any concerns that may arise.

Annual Report — September 30, 2017

Portfolio Manager

To Our Shareholders,

The Sarbanes-Oxley Act requires a fund's principal executive and financial officers to certify the entire contents of the semiannual and annual shareholder reports in filings with the Securities and Exchange Commission ("SEC") on Form N-CSR. This certification would cover the portfolio managers' commentary and subjective opinions if they are attached to or a part of the financial statements. Many of these comments and opinions would be difficult or impossible to certify.

Because we do not want our portfolio managers to eliminate their opinions and/or restrict their commentary to historical facts, we have separated their commentary from the financial statements and investment portfolio and have sent it to you separately. Both the commentary and the financial statements, including the portfolio of investments, will be available on our website at www.gabelli.com.

The Gabelli U.S. Treasury Money Market Fund

Disclosure of Fund Expenses (Unaudited)

For the Six Month Period from April 1, 2017 through September 30, 2017 Expense Table

We believe it is important for you to understand the impact of fees and expenses regarding your investment. All mutual funds have operating expenses. As a shareholder of a fund, you incur ongoing costs, which include costs for portfolio management, administrative services, and shareholder reports (like this one), among others. Operating expenses, which are deducted from a fund's gross income, directly reduce the investment return of a fund. When a fund's expenses are expressed as a percentage of its average net assets, this figure is known as the expense ratio. The following examples are intended to help you understand the ongoing costs (in dollars) of investing in your Fund and to compare these costs with those of other mutual funds. The examples are based on an investment of $1,000 made at the beginning of the period shown and held for the entire period.

The Expense Table below illustrates your Fund's costs in two ways:

Actual Fund Return: This section provides information about actual account values and actual expenses. You may use this section to help you to estimate the actual expenses that you paid over the period after any fee waivers and expense reimbursements. The "Ending Account Value" shown is derived from the Fund's actual return during the past six months, and the "Expenses Paid During Period" shows the dollar amount that would have been paid by an investor who started with $1,000 in the Fund. You may use this information, together with the amount you invested, to estimate the expenses that you paid over the period.

To do so, simply divide your account value by $1,000 (for example, an $8,600 account value divided by $1,000 = 8.6), then multiply the result by the number given for your Fund under the heading "Expenses Paid During Period" to estimate the expenses you paid during this period.

Hypothetical 5% Return: This section provides information about hypothetical account values and hypothetical expenses based on the Fund's actual expense ratio. It assumes a hypothetical annualized return of 5% before expenses during the period shown. In this case – because the hypothetical return used is not the Fund's actual return – the results do not apply to your investment and you cannot use the hypothetical account value and expense to estimate the actual ending account balance or expenses you paid for the period. This example is useful in making comparisons of the ongoing costs of investing in the Fund and other funds. To do so, compare this 5% hypothetical example with the 5% hypothetical examples that appear in shareholder reports of other funds.

Please note that the expenses shown in the table are meant to highlight your ongoing costs only and do not reflect any transactional costs such as sales charges (loads), redemption fees, or exchange fees, if any, which are described in the Prospectus. If these costs were applied to your account, your costs would be higher. Therefore, the 5% hypothetical return is useful in comparing ongoing costs only, and will not help you determine the relative total costs of owning different funds. The "Annualized Expense Ratio" represents the actual expenses for the last six months and may be different from the expense ratio in the Financial Highlights which is for the year ended September 30, 2017.

	Beginning Account Value 04/01/17	Ending Account Value 09/30/17	Annualized Expense Ratio	Expenses Paid During Period*
Gabelli U.S. Treasury Money Market Fund
Actual Fund Return
Class AAA	$1,000.00	$1,004.10	0.08%	$0.40
Class A	$1,000.00	$1,004.10	0.08%	$0.40
Class C	$1,000.00	$1,004.10	0.08%	$0.40

Class C	$1,000.00	$1,024.67	0.08%	$0.41

* Expenses are equal to the Fund's annualized expense ratio for the last six months multiplied by the average account value over the period, multiplied by the number of days in the most recent fiscal half year (183 days), then divided by 365.

The Gabelli U.S. Treasury Money Market Fund

Notes to Financial Statements

1. Organization. The Gabelli U.S. Treasury Money Market Fund, a series of The Gabelli Money Market Funds (the “Trust”), was organized on May 21, 1992 as a Delaware statutory trust. The Fund is a diversified open-end management investment company registered under the Investment Company Act of 1940, as amended (the “1940 Act”). The Fund’s primary objective is high current income consistent with the preservation of principal and liquidity. The Fund commenced investment operations on October 1, 1992.

2. Significant Accounting Policies. As an investment company, the Fund follows the investment company accounting and reporting guidance, which is part of U.S. generally accepted accounting principles (“GAAP”) that may require the use of management estimates and assumptions in the preparation of its financial statements. Actual results could differ from those estimates. The following is a summary of significant accounting policies followed by the Fund in the preparation of its financial statements.

Security Valuation. The Fund values securities utilizing the amortized cost valuation method which approximates market value and is permitted under Rule 2a-7, as amended, under the 1940 Act. This method involves valuing a portfolio security initially at its cost and thereafter adjusting for amortization of premium or accretion of discount to maturity.

The inputs and valuation techniques used to measure fair value of the Fund’s investments are summarized into three levels as described in the hierarchy below:

- Level 1 — quoted prices in active markets for identical securities;
- Level 2 — other significant observable inputs (including quoted prices for similar securities, interest rates, prepayment speeds, credit risk, etc.); and
- Level 3 — significant unobservable inputs (including the Board’s approval as to the fair value of investments).

A financial instrument’s level within the fair value hierarchy is based on the lowest level of any input both individually and in the aggregate that is significant to the fair value measurement. The inputs or methodology used for valuing securities are not necessarily an indication of the risk associated with investing in those securities. The summary of the Fund’s investments in securities by inputs used to value the Fund’s investments as of September 30, 2017 is as follows:

Valuation Inputs*	Investments in Securities (Market Value) Assets
Level 2 - Other Significant Observable Inputs	$1,890,165,175

* Level 2 holdings consist of U.S. Government Obligations.

The Fund held only Level 2 investments during the years ended September 30, 2017 and 2016. The Fund’s policy is to recognize transfers among Levels as of the beginning of the reporting period.

In 2014, the U.S. Securities and Exchange Commission adopted amendments to money market fund regulations which structurally changed the way that certain money market funds operate. Since the Fund invests only in U.S. Treasury securities, it will continue to transact at a stable $1.00 share price.

Securities Transactions and Investment Income. Securities transactions are accounted for on the trade date with realized gain/(loss) on investments determined by using the identified cost method. Interest income (including amortization of premium and accretion of discount) is recorded on the accrual basis. Premiums and discounts on long term debt securities are amortized using the effective yield to maturity method.

Distributions to Shareholders. Distributions from investment income (including net short term realized capital gains) are declared daily and paid monthly. Distributions from net long term capital gains, if any, are paid annually. Book/tax differences of distributions are either temporary or permanent in nature. To the extent these differences are permanent, adjustments are made to the appropriate capital accounts in the period when the differences arise. These reclassifications have no impact on the NAV of the Fund.

For the years ended September 30, 2017 and 2016, the tax character of distributions was all ordinary income.

Provision for Income Taxes. The Fund intends to continue to qualify as a regulated investment company under Subchapter M of the Internal Revenue Code of 1986, as amended (the “Code”). It is the policy of the Fund to comply with the requirements of the Code applicable to regulated investment companies and to distribute substantially all of its net investment company taxable income and net capital gains. Therefore, no provision for federal income taxes is required.

At September 30, 2017, the components of accumulated earnings/losses on a tax basis were as follows:

Accumulated capital loss carryforwards	$ (38,919)
Undistributed ordinary income (inclusive of short term capital gains)	147,957
Net unrealized depreciation	(3,570)
Qualified late year losses deferred	(45,846)
Current year dividends payable	(150,404)
Total	$ (90,782)

The Fund is permitted to carry capital losses forward for an unlimited period. Capital losses that are carried forward will retain their character as either short term or long term capital losses. The Fund has a short term capital loss carryforward with no expiration of $38,919.

At September 30, 2017, the temporary difference between book basis and tax basis net unrealized depreciation on investments was primarily due to deferral of losses from wash sales.

The following summarizes the tax cost of investments and the related net unrealized appreciation/(depreciation) at September 30, 2017:

	Cost	Gross Unrealized Appreciation	Gross Unrealized Depreciation	Net Unrealized Depreciation
Investments	$1,890,168,745	$—	$(3,570)	$(3,570)

The Fund is required to evaluate tax positions taken or expected to be taken in the course of preparing the Fund’s tax returns to determine whether the tax positions are “more-likely-than-not” of being sustained by the applicable tax authority. Income tax and related interest and penalties would be recognized by the Fund as tax expense in the Statement of Operations if the tax positions were deemed not to meet the more-likely-than-not threshold. For the year ended September 30, 2017, the Fund did not incur any income tax, interest, or penalties. As of September 30, 2017, Gabelli Funds, LLC (the “Manager”) has reviewed all open tax years and concluded that there was no impact to the Fund’s net assets or results of operations. The Fund’s federal and state tax returns for the prior three fiscal years remain open, subject to examination. On an ongoing basis, the Manager will monitor the Fund's tax positions to determine if adjustments to this conclusion are necessary.

3. Line of Credit. The Fund participates in an unsecured line of credit, which expires on March 8, 2018 and may be renewed annually, of up to $75,000,000 under which it may borrow up to 10% of its net assets from the custodian for temporary borrowing purposes. Borrowings under this arrangement bear interest at a floating rate equal to the higher of the overnight Federal Funds rate plus 125 basis points or the 30 day LIBOR plus 125 basis points in effect on that day. This amount, if any, would be included in "Interest expense" in the Statement of Operations. During the year ended September 30, 2017, there were no borrowings under the line of credit.

4. Shares of Beneficial Interest. The Fund offers three classes of shares - Class AAA Shares, Class A Shares, and Class C Shares. Class A Shares and Class C Shares are offered only as an exchange option for shareholders holding Class A or Class C Shares of other funds within the Gabelli/GAMCO Fund complex. Class A Shares and Class C Shares are not available for direct investment by shareholders.

5. Agreements with Affiliated Parties. The Trust has entered into a management agreement (the "Management Agreement") with the Manager, which provides that the Trust will pay the Manager a fee, computed daily and paid monthly, at the annual rate of 0.08% of the value of the Fund's average daily net assets. In accordance with the Management Agreement, the Manager provides a continuous investment program for the Fund's portfolio, oversees the administration of all aspects of the Fund's business and affairs, and pays the compensation of all Officers and Trustees of the Fund who are affiliated persons of the Manager. In addition, the Manager may voluntarily reimburse expenses to the extent necessary to assist the Fund in attempting to prevent a negative yield.

G.distributors, LLC, an affiliate of the Manager, retained $15,889 from investors on redemptions of shares that were exchanged into the Fund from other funds in the Gabelli/GAMCO Fund complex.

The Fund pays each Trustee who is not considered an affiliated person an annual retainer of $3,000 plus $500 for each Board of Trustees (the "Board") meeting attended. Each Trustee is reimbursed by the Fund for any out of pocket expenses incurred in attending meetings. All Board committee members receive $500 per meeting attended and the Chairman of the Audit Committee and the Lead Trustee each receives an annual fee of $1,000. A Trustee may receive a single meeting fee, allocated among the participating funds, for participation in certain meetings held on behalf of multiple funds. Trustees who are directors or employees of the Manager or an affiliated company receive no compensation or expense reimbursement from the Fund.

6. Significant Shareholder. As of September 30, 2017, 66.3% of the Fund was beneficially owned by the Manager and its affiliates, including managed accounts for which the affiliates of the Manager have voting control but disclaim pecuniary interest.

7. Indemnifications. The Fund enters into contracts that contain a variety of indemnifications. The Fund's maximum exposure under these arrangements is unknown. However, the Fund has not had prior claims or losses pursuant to these contracts. Management has reviewed the Fund's existing contracts and expects the risk of loss to be remote.

8. Subsequent Events. Effective October 1, 2017, the total expense ratio for the Fund was reduced from 0.11% of the Fund's average daily net assets to 0.08% of the Fund's average daily net assets. The Manager has contractually agreed to waive management fees and/or reimburse expenses of the Fund to the extent necessary to maintain the Total Annual Fund Operating Expenses After Fee Waiver and/or Expense Reimbursement (excluding contingent deferred sales loads (for Class A and Class C shares only), interest, acquired fund fees and expenses, taxes, and extraordinary expenses) at no more than 0.08% of the Fund's average daily net assets for Class AAA, Class A, and Class C shares. This arrangement is in effect through January 31, 2018. Thereafter, this arrangement will renew automatically for an additional one year period unless the Board or the Manager provides the other with written notice of termination at least sixty days prior to the expiration of the then current term.

Management has evaluated the impact on the Fund of all other subsequent events occurring through the date the financial statements were issued and has determined that there were no other subsequent events requiring recognition or disclosure in the financial statements.

The Gabelli U.S. Treasury Money Market Fund

Report of Independent Registered Public Accounting Firm

To the Shareholders and Board of Trustees of
The Gabelli U.S. Treasury Money Market Fund

We have audited the accompanying statement of net assets of The Gabelli U.S. Treasury Money Market Fund (the "Fund"), a series of The Gabelli Money Market Funds, as of September 30, 2017, and the related statement of operations for the year then ended, the statements of changes in net assets for each of the two years in the period then ended and the financial highlights for each of the five years in the period then ended. These financial statements and financial highlights are the responsibility of the Fund's management. Our responsibility is to express an opinion on these financial statements and financial highlights based on our audits.

We conducted our audits in accordance with the standards of the Public Company Accounting Oversight Board (United States). Those standards require that we plan and perform the audit to obtain reasonable assurance about whether the financial statements and financial highlights are free of material misstatement. We were not engaged to perform an audit of the Fund's internal control over financial reporting. Our audits included consideration of internal control over financial reporting as a basis for designing audit procedures that are appropriate in the circumstances, but not for the purpose of expressing an opinion on the effectiveness of the Fund's internal control over financial reporting. Accordingly, we express no such opinion. An audit also includes examining, on a test basis, evidence supporting the amounts and disclosures in the financial statements and financial highlights, assessing the accounting principles used and significant estimates made by management, and evaluating the overall financial statement presentation. Our procedures included confirmation of securities owned as of September 30, 2017, by correspondence with the Fund's custodian. We believe that our audits provide a reasonable basis for our opinion.

In our opinion, the financial statements and financial highlights referred to above present fairly, in all material respects, the financial position of The Gabelli U.S. Treasury Money Market Fund, a series of The Gabelli Money Market Funds, at September 30, 2017, the results of its operations for the year then ended, the changes in its net assets for each of the two years in the period then ended, and the financial highlights for each of the five years in the period then ended in conformity with U.S. generally accepted accounting principles.

The Gabelli U.S. Treasury Money Market Fund

2017 TAX NOTICE TO SHAREHOLDERS (Unaudited)

For the year ended September 30, 2017, the Fund designates 100% of the ordinary income distribution as qualified interest income, pursuant to the American Jobs Creation Act of 2004.

U.S. Government Income:

The percentage of the ordinary income distribution paid by the Fund during the year ended September 30, 2017 which was derived from U.S. Treasury securities was 100%. Such income is exempt from state and local tax in all states. However, many states, including New York and California, allow a tax exemption for a portion of the income earned only if a mutual fund has invested at least 50% of its assets at the end of each quarter of the Fund's fiscal year in U.S. Government securities. The Gabelli U.S. Treasury Money Market Fund met this strict requirement in the year ended September 30, 2017. Due to the diversity in state and local tax law, it is recommended that you consult your personal tax adviser as to the applicability of the information provided to your specific situation.

All designations are based on financial information available as of the date of this annual report and, accordingly, are subject to change. For each item, it is the intention of the Fund to designate the maximum amount permitted under the Internal Revenue Code and the regulations thereunder.

Proxy Voting

The Fund files Form N-PX with its complete proxy voting record for the twelve months ended June 30, no later than August 31 of each year. A description of the Fund's proxy voting policies, procedures, and how the Fund voted proxies relating to portfolio securities is available without charge, upon request, by (i) calling 800-GABELLI (800-422-3554); (ii) writing to The Gabelli Funds at One Corporate Center, Rye, NY 10580-1422; or (iii) visiting the SEC's website at www.sec.gov.

Gabelli/GAMCO Funds and Your Personal Privacy

Who are we?

The Gabelli/GAMCO Funds are investment companies registered with the Securities and Exchange Commission under the Investment Company Act of 1940. We are managed by Gabelli Funds, LLC and GAMCO Asset Management Inc., which are affiliated with GAMCO Investors, Inc. that is a publicly held company with subsidiaries and affiliates that provide investment advisory services for a variety of clients.

What kind of non-public information do we collect about you if you become a fund shareholder?

If you apply to open an account directly with us, you will be giving us some non-public information about yourself. The non-public information we collect about you is:

- Information you give us on your application form. This could include your name, address, telephone number, social security number, bank account number, and other information.
- Information about your transactions with us, any transactions with our affiliates, and transactions with the entities we hire to provide services to you. This would include information about the shares that you buy or redeem. If we hire someone else to provide services — like a transfer agent — we will also have information about the transactions that you conduct through them.

What information do we disclose and to whom do we disclose it?

We do not disclose any non-public personal information about our customers or former customers to anyone other than our affiliates, our service providers who need to know such information, and as otherwise permitted by law. If you want to find out what the law permits, you can read the privacy rules adopted by the Securities and Exchange Commission. They are in volume 17 of the Code of Federal Regulations, Part 248. The Commission often posts information about its regulations on its website, www.sec.gov.

What do we do to protect your personal information?

We restrict access to non-public personal information about you to the people who need to know that information in order to provide services to you or the fund and to ensure that we are complying with the laws governing the securities business. We maintain physical, electronic, and procedural safeguards to keep your personal information confidential.
