STRATEGY OVERVIEW

- The Fund seeks long-term capital appreciation through investments in small and mid sized market capitalization companies that the adviser believes are undervalued. The Adviser defines small and mid market capitalization as securities within the range of the Russell 2500® Value Index at the time of investment. The market cap range of the index changes daily, and as a result, the capitalization of small and mid cap companies in which the Fund invests will also change.
- In the broadest sense of the term, companies undergoing major change are often characterized as “restructuring” situations. These events include emergence from bankruptcy, mergers and acquisitions, and full-scale corporate reorganizations, such as spinning off or divesting a division. In our experience, there are often extremely complex stories behind the moving parts, making information on the companies involved difficult to synthesize in a timely manner. As a result, many investors choose to avoid these stocks altogether—leading to temporary mispricing.

The Fund's share price will fluctuate with changes in the market value of the Fund's portfolio securities. Stocks are subject to market, economic and business risks that cause their prices to fluctuate. When you sell Fund shares, they may be worth less than what you paid for them. Consequently, you can lose money by investing in the Fund.

Investors should carefully consider the investment objectives, risks, charges, and expenses of the Fund before investing. The prospectus, which contains more complete information about these and other matters, should be read carefully before investing. The inception date of the Fund was August 15, 2007. Smaller and medium-sized company stocks are more volatile and less liquid than larger, more established company securities. Dividend paying investments may not experience the same price appreciation as non-dividend paying investments. Dividend paying stocks do not assure a profit or guarantee against a loss. Companies may choose to stop paying dividends at their own discretion. Portfolio companies may choose not to pay a dividend or it may be less than anticipated. The Russell 2500® Value Index is an unmanaged index that measures the performance of the small to mid-cap value segment of the U.S. equity universe and includes those Russell 2500 companies with lower price-to-book ratios and lower forecasted growth values. The Russell 2500® Index is an unmanaged index that measures the performance of the 2,500 smallest companies by market capitalization of the Russell 3000® Index.
